The Coinage Of The German Republic 1918-1937

By DAVID M. BULLOWA

Read at a meeting of the Bronx Coin Club, February 24, 1937.

It is very interesting to note that the coinage of the German Republic following the World War was in many respects very similar to the Imperial coinage that had preceded it. This is a fact well worthy of especial notice, as most radical changes of the form of government result in changes in the form of coinage.

Five Marks, University of Tübingen, 1927.

Prior to the war all German coins had the inscription "DEUTSCHES REICH" or German Commonwealth, with a single-headed eagle. The coinage of the Republic bears the same eagle (but without the crown or Hohenzollern arms), as well as the same inscription on the reverse. The main change is to be seen when one searches for the various rulers whose portraits formerly appeared on the coins. These have gone, but many far more interesting and historically important obverses have taken their places. The Imperial silver and gold coins that did not have a reeded edge always bore the inscription: "GOTT MIT UNS" or God is with us. The Republican coinage, with some few exceptions, has a new motto, "EINIGKEIT UND RECHT UND FREIHEIT," meaning Unity, Right and Freedom.

Following the terrific inflation period of the 1920's in Germany a new currency was established, due to the support of other nations through loans and other security flotations, which resulted in stabilizing the new unit, on the same basis as the old. The pre-war mark had been roughly equivalent to a shilling (formerly one shilling had been worth U. S. 24.3c., and a mark was then U. S. 23.8c.), and the new mark was again established at U. S. 23.8c.

The same silver and copper and nickel denominations were struck, but in different metals, but no gold was struck during the Republic as an official coinage, although many medals were struck on a ducat or mark value basis.

My particular interest in the German series has been the commemoratives, which have been almost as prolific as our own series, but with the major difference that all their coins are struck in two conditions—proof and uncirculated—both of which are sold by the mint, with the Government making the profit for the special occasion. However, whereas we have but three mints with which to contend, there are in Germany at the present time six mints, and most of the commemorative issues are available with each mint mark. Unfortunately, I am not prepared to quote coinage figures, but I am certain that there are no limited coinages at one specific mint. Since the coins are struck by the Government and released by them, private organizations have no coins to re-sell, and their only purpose in having a commemorative issue is for the honor which it bestows. Commemoratives in Germany are not on a profit-making basis.

With the exception of a few issues, the majority of the German commemoratives were struck in two denominations: the three and five mark size. But with the devaluation which took place after 1933, the five-mark piece became the same size as the former three mark, and the three mark was lowered to two marks and became the same size of the former single mark. It is interesting to note that the German Republic prior to devaluation did not make much use of the two mark piece, which during the Empire had been a very popular commemorative denomination.

Regarding these coins from an artistic point of view, much may be said for them. The earlier pieces struck during the later half of the 1920's show a very formal style, which is quite appropriate to the Middle Age period which most of them commemorate, but about 1930 there is a trend to a type of modernism, which first showed itself about 1910 in German numismatics when the commemorative for the University of Berlin had a very different eagle on the reverse from that which was usual on the other coinage. This new departure was quite popular and only a very few of the commemoratives after this period have the formal eagle which had been used since 1890. (In 1890 he underwent slight changes which were his due, as he had not been touched prior to then since 1872). Some of the German numismatic eagles produced during the depression are as startling as our own Bridgeport and Barnum issues for their sheer boldness and lack of detail.

It would be rather boring to discuss in detail the many German commemoratives which are exhibited complete herewith (except for mintmarks, which therefore reduces it to a type collection!), and therefore I shall attempt to group together those of similar type and merely bring out the important points which may possibly prove of interest to you. Many of the issues, as with our own half dollar series, are purely of local interest, but many of the issues are of national if not international heroes and of considerable worth.

The first silver issue was the Rhineland celebration, marking the occupation by German peoples of this area for a period of one thousand years, and this issue was struck in the three and five mark denomination. In this same series of commemorations of events prior to about 1500 there are several other issues which are as follows: 700th anniversary of the city of Lubeck, 1226-1926, 3 marks; millenary of the town of Nordhausen, 927-1927, 3 marks; millenary of the town of Dinkelsbuehl, 928-1928, 3 marks; 900th anniversary of the founding of the town of Naumburg, 1028-1928, 3 marks; millenary of the village and city of Meissen, 929-1929, 3 and 5 mark; also Vogelweide 3 marks for the famous minnesinger, 1230-1930.

The next period commemorated is that of the Reformation. There are two university pieces: The 450th anniversary of the University of Tubingen, in Wurttemberg, founded by Eberhard in 1477-1927, 3 and 5 mark; the 400th anniversary of the founding of Phillips University in Hesse by the Landgrave Phillip in 1527-1927, 3 marks; the Durer memorial year 3 marks in 1528-1928.

Three Marks, Nordhausen, 1927.

As a memorial to the havoc which the Reformation brought with it there is a commemorative 3-mark piece issued in 1931 marking the 300th anniversary of the rebirth of the city after many pillagings, burnings, etc. There is also a 2 and 5 mark piece of reduced size marking the birth of Luther, 1483-1933.

The commemoratives of the 1700's are the Lessing issue of 3 and 5 marks on the 200th anniversary of the famous author and poet's birth. In 1934, on the reduced standard, a Schiller commemorative was struck marking the anniversary of his birth, 1759-1934, 2 and 5 mark.

During the nineteenth century there are several commemoratives. First, the centennial of the city of Bremerhaven, which is the port for the city of Bremen, marking the founding in 1827-1927, 3 marks. The Napoleonic period is marked by the 3-mark piece honoring the great German leader Stein, 1831-1931. Also of this period there is the Goethe 3 and 5 mark piece marking the death of this world-famous poet and author.

Coming to more modern times there are the several Hindenburg issues. First, the tenth anniversary of the Constitution, 1919-1929, of which there is a 3 and 5 mark piece, and also a reduced standard 5-mark piece of 1935 and 1936 marking his death, in 1934. It is noteworthy that this is the only instance I have seen in numismatics excepting our own half dollar series where the same event has been commemorated over a period of years. The obverse shows the dates covering von Hindenburg's life span, 1847-1934, and the reverse of series bears the date 1935, and another series with the same obverse 1936. Only in American numismatics can this sequence be matched! But this not all; Germany has watched the United States series closely, for in late 1936 there appeared a third variety with the same memorial obverse, this time with the "sign of rank" as the reverse type.

In 1929, the absorption of Waldeck, a small principality, into Prussia was completed on April 1st, 1929, and this demise of a former coin-issuing territory was solemnized by a three-mark piece.

Three Marks, Albrecht Durer, 1928.

In 1930 the world flight of the Zeppelin in 1929 was marked by a commemorative 3 and 5 mark piece, showing on the obverse the Zeppelin.

In 1930 the well-known second Rhineland issue was struck in the 3 and 5 mark denomination, not as a strict commemorative but merely to point out, as the inscription does so clearly, that the Rhine is Germany's river, and not her border. This issue of course did mark the final evacuation of the Rhineland in 1930 of the French and British occupation troops.

The last issue which I bring to your attention is the Potsdam Garrison Church 2 and 5 mark pieces of reduced size, which were struck in 1934 to commemorate the first year of the abolition of the Weimar Constitution of 1919 (commemorated in 1929 for the tenth anniversary as previously noted), and also marking the commencement of Hitler's regime in Germany. This coin, as well as the Hindenburg Memorial issues of 1935 and '36 show as a part of their device the swastika.

The series as a whole is of considerable interest and continuity, and I trust that when the translations and descriptions are published in English the series will gain the study which it deserves.

SWEDEN TO ISSUE COIN FOR DELAWARE TRICENTENARY.

Now that the Delaware-Swedish Tercentenary half dollar has been distributed it is interesting to note that Sweden will issue a commemorative coin for the occasion. The firm of D. Holmberg's Mynthandel, Stockholm, Sweden, writes as follows:

"A Swedish-Delaware jubilee coin will be issued (in mint state and in proof condition). It will be a two-kronor piece (half dollar size) in analogy to our old coins named daler, riksdaler (specie), three-daler silvermynt, four-rikdaler riksmünt. The earliest of these coins was minted in 1534 and the latest in 1871."

The Series Of United States Commemorative Coins

By JOHN F. JONES
Jamestown, N. Y.

(Editor's Note—The very great interest in commemorative coins in recent months has created many new collectors, who, in order that their collections may be complete, are including the older issues, dating back to 1892. For this reason it seems appropriate to give a complete list of these coins, with details of the various issues.)

Monroe Doctrine Commemorative Half Dollar.

On December 5, 1922, a bill was introduced in the United States Senate by Senator Johnson, of California, authorizing an issue of 50-cent pieces in commemoration of the Monroe Doctrine. Congress authorized 300,000 pieces, and in all 274,077 were coined at the San Francisco Mint. None reported as remelted.

Obverse, The conjoined heads of President James Monroe and John Quincy Adams (his Secretary of State). Below, "Monroe-Adams," the names separated by two links. To left, "In God We Trust." To right, "1923" with "S" mint mark below. Around upper circumference, "United States of America." Around lower, "Half Dollar."

Reverse, A representation of the Western Hemisphere. In the field faint lines intended to represent ocean currents. To the left, a scroll of parchment and quill pen separating the dates "1823" and "1923." Around upper circumference, "Monroe Doctrine Centennial." Around lower, "Los Angeles." Designed by Jo Mora.

The Western Hemisphere on the coins is a reproduction of a design used in 1901 for Pan-American publicity work. Two females are used to represent North and South America. The one representing North America is in a sitting position with her right hand extended downward to the one representing South America.

The moving-picture industry was the force behind the Monroe Doctrine Centennial coins. A Historical Revue and Motion Picture Exposition, commemorating the 100th anniversary of the Monroe Doctrine, was held during June at Los Angeles, from which a series of educational films were made.

One critic of this coin said: "Even if the force behind the coin is the moving-picture industry of Los Angeles," as stated, "the dignity and significance of this commemorative coin should not be compromised by any agency."

Charles E. Hughes, while Secretary of State of the United States, delivered an address before the American Bar Association at Minneapolis, Minn., August 30, 1923, that restated the genesis and scope of the Monroe Doctrine as it stands today. Without quoting him fully, the main points were:

"The people of the United States had watched with deep sympathy, the long struggle of our Southern neighbors for independence. The Republic of Colombia was recognized in 1822, the Government of Buenos Ayres, and the States of Mexico and Chili early in 1823, with others in 1824."

The Holy Alliance formed by the sovereigns of Austria, Russia, and Prussia had sought to enforce the divine right of kings, against the progress of liberal principles. Joined by France, they undertook "to put an end to the system of representative government," and after Ferdinand VII had been restored to Spain, the overthrowing of the new governments erected out of the old colonies or Spain, in the Americas was proposed.

After mature deliberation by the President and his Cabinet, the American position was formulated in President Monroe's message of December 2nd, 1823, . . . "the occasion has been judged proper for asserting as a principle, in which the rights and interests of the United States are involved, that the American continents, by the free and independent condition which they have assumed and maintained, are henceforth not to be considered as subjects for future colonization by any European powers." . . .

"We owe it, therefore, to candor and to the amicable relations existing between the United States and those powers, to declare that we should consider any attempt on their part to extend their system to any portion of this hemisphere as dangerous to our peace and safety. With the existing colonies or dependencies of any European power we have not interfered and shall not interfere. But with the governments who have declared their independence and have maintained it, and whose independence we have, on great consideration and on just principles acknowledged, we could not view any interposition for the purpose of oppressing them or controlling in any other manner their destiny, by any European power, in any other light than as the manifestation of an unfriendly disposition toward the United States."

The Monroe Doctrine is not a legislative pronouncement; it has been approved by action of Congress, but it does not rest upon any Congressional sanction. . . . It is not a part of international law. . . . It is a policy declared by the Executive of the United States, and repeated in one form or another by later Presidents and Secretaries of State, in the conduct of our foreign relations. It has been for 100 years and continues to be an integral part of our national thought and purpose.

The Monroe Doctrine is not a policy of aggression; it is a policy of self-defense. It was asserted at a time when we were menaced by threats of Old World powers, directed against republican institutions. As the policy embodied in the Monroe Doctrine is distinctively the policy of the United States, the Government of the United States reserves to itself its definition, interpretation, and application.

As President Wilson observed: "The Monroe Doctrine was proclaimed by the United States on her own authority. It always has been maintained and always will be maintained upon her own responsibility."

The Huguenot-Walloon Commemorative Half Dollar.

This was issued in February, 1924. This coin commemorates the founding of New Netherland (now the State of New York) by the settling of a colony of Walloons, French and Belgian Huguenots on the banks of the Hudson River in 1624 by the Dutch West Indies Company. Walloons is the collective name of the inhabitants of the southeastern division of Belgium. Huguenots is a name formerly given to the Protestants in France and Belgium. To commemorate the 300th anniversary of this permanent settlement, an issue of half dollars was designed by George T. Morgan and authorized by Congress. The act provided that 300,000 might be coined. It also provided that they would be issued only upon the request of the Fifth National Bank, New York City, which will act as sole distributing agent. Under this act 142,080 were coined at Philadelphia, of which 55,000 were returned and melted, leaving 87,080 outstanding.

Obverse, This bears the profiles of Admiral Coligny and William the Silent, with their names in small letters below. Inscription above, "United States of America." Below, "Huguenot Half Dollar." To right of busts, "In God We Trust."

Reverse, This shows the ship Nieuw Nederlandt, in which the first 30 families of settlers came to New York, with the dates at the sides "1624" and "1924." Inscription above, "Huguenot-Walloon Tercentenary." Below, "Founding of New Netherland."

From the collector's point of view, this coin is the equal of any of the commemorative coins. One objection that might be made against it, is the similarity of the reverse to the Pilgrim Half Dollar. The coin was issued by the Huguenot-Walloon New Netherland Commission, with headquarters in New York City, whose director was an A. N. A. member, and, with Mr. Moritz Wormser, then President of the A. N. A., acting in an advisory capacity, made it the first instance we believe, where the coin fraternity has been consulted in the issue of a commemorative half dollar.

The A. N. A. members looking only at the coin features of the new issue, forgot their history or else thought no one would recall it. Not so the public press, which severely criticized the use of those profiles on the coin.

Admiral Coligny was killed in the massacre of St. Bartholomew on August 24, 1572, and William the Silent, whose fourth wife was the daughter of Coligny, was also slain June 10, 1584, forty years before the settlement now commemorated. Neither of these men had anything to do with the founding of New Netherland. Then why should they be perpetuated on an American souvenir coin?

Dr. Zwerlein, of Rochester, answered that question in an address delivered in the Church of the Sacred Heart on March 17, 1924. He said, "Minting this Huguenot coin was a shameful abuse of United States currency. New Netherland was a Dutch colony, even though the first colonists sent out on the ship, Nieuw Nederlandt, thirty families, were mostly Walloons, comprising also a few Huguenots. The Dutch, therefore, are the ones who should have been honored by the coin, but the Dutchman, William the Silent, is made to play second fiddle to the Frenchman, the Huguenot Coligny.

"Traditional Calvinist lore represents Admiral Coligny and William the Silent as martyrs in the fight for religious liberty, but scientific history brands this view of those men as untrue and in flagrant contradiction with historical evidence.

"Nevertheless, the false tradition seems to have inspired the Huguenot-Walloon New Netherland Commission, instituted by the Federal Council of Churches of Christ in America, when the United States Government was duped into minting this Huguenot half dollar, so as to make a Protestant demonstration out of the tercentenary of the colonization of the State of New York."

The Patriot or Lexington-Concord Half Dollar.

"The shot that was heard around the world" on April 19, 1775, has its Sesqui-Centennial commemorative in the "Patriot Half Dollar" dated 1925, in memory of the Lexington-Concord battle.

Reverse, The old belfry at Lexington; below, "Old Belfry, Lexington." Inscription surrounding, "Lexington-Concord Sesquicentennial, 1775-1925." Designed by Chester Beach and coined at Philadelphia.

The Lexington-Concord half dollar is officially known as the Patriot half dollar. It is doubtful if a better selection could have been made for a coin than those two designs of a Concord Minute Man and the old belfry at Lexington, but made from a sculptor's model, it lacks the sharp, clear-cut lines and lettering of the earlier coins.

162,099 were coined, 86 reported as returned and melted, leaving 162,013 outstanding, which sold at one dollar each.

The Stone Mountain Half Dollar.

This was coined in 1925, was given greater publicity, and aroused more criticism in the daily press than any commemorative coin so far issued. In addition, the differences that arose between the Stone Mountain Confederate Monumental Association and Sculptor Borglum were fully aired. Stone Mountain is the largest solid body of granite in the world, on the sheer side of which is being carved the greatest monument ever attempted by mankind, in memory of the Civil War soldiers of the South. The figures in the central group, consisting of Davis, Lee, and Stonewall Jackson, will measure 165 feet from hat crown to horse's hoofs, or as high as a twelve-story building.

The title of the bill passed unanimously by Congress is as follows: "A bill to authorize the coinage of 50-cent pieces in commemoration of the commencement on June 18, 1923, of the work of carving on Stone Mountain, in the State of Georgia, a monument to the valor of the soldiers of the South, . . . and in memory of Warren G. Harding, President of the United States of America, in whose administration the work was begun." The bill authorized an issue of not exceeding five million pieces to be coined at the Philadelphia Mint and designed by Gutzon Borglum.

Obverse, Equestrian figures of Generals Robert E. Lee and Thomas J. ("Stonewall") Jackson, Lee wearing a hat, Jackson bareheaded. To left, "Stone Mountain 1925." Above the mounted figures "In God We Trust," 13 stars in field. To right, the initials "G. B." (Gutzon Borglum) almost invisible.

Reverse, An eagle with outstretched wings perched on a mountain crag.

To left, "Memorial to the Valor of the Soldier of the South." Above, "United States of America," and "E Pluribus Unum." Below, "Liberty" and "Half Dollar." The entire field is studded with stars.

It is very noticeable that the coin contains no reference to President Harding; also, there is nothing on the obverse to indicate that the mounted figures are Lee and Jackson.

The profits on the sale of this coin at one dollar each was to be devoted to the carving on Stone Mountain. Many different opinions (apart from the political) have been heard regarding this coin. Some think it ranks next to the Illinois Lincoln piece. Others say it is a great improvement over the ugly reverse of the Lexington-Concord half dollar. Still others say in appearance and execution of the coin, it is rather a poor piece.

The records show 2,314,709 were coined, of which 1,165 were remelted, leaving 2,313,544 outstanding. These coins were purchased in large quantities by the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad and other large industrial corporations. Besides, an intensive campaign was carried on for their sale, especially in the South, in hopes of selling 5,000,000 pieces. Take one sample: The quota for Florida was 175,000 pieces. Each town and city was then apportioned a certain number. Each locality had its campaign committee. In many places the Rotary and Kiwanis clubs underwrote the quotas. Auctions were held and one coin of each quota sold to the highest bidder with the promise that his name would be forwarded to headquarters. At these auction sales fancy prices were paid, ranging from $140 to $1,300, which was about the limit.

It was stated at the time that one well-known New York financier bought 10,000 of them. How they were disposed of afterward is not known. One of the St. Louis banks, for a limited period, gave away a Stone Mountain half-dollar to each person opening a savings account with that bank and making an initial deposit of at least $5.00.

Persons buying tickets or meals in the dining cars on the B. & O. R. R. later received among their change Stone Mountain half dollars at face value. The Stone Mountain coins have become about as popular as the Columbian half dollars.

A HOARD OF GOLD COINS UNEARTHED IN SOUTH CAROLINA.

Press reports state that on March 28 a pot of gold coins was unearthed on an estate near Chester, S. C. The face value of the coins is said to be $6624. The coins were dated from 1830 to 1881, with many of them dated 1856. The number of coins of each denomination is given as follows: $20, 190; $10, 113; $5, 307; $2.50, 44; $3, 4; $1, 37. It is reported the gold was taken to the Federal Reserve Bank in Charlotte, N. C., where it was exchanged for paper money.

Drawing Back The Curtain

Numismatics and Numismatists
Of A Generation Or Two Ago

(Editor's Note—Drawing back the curtain this month we reveal some correspondence and discussion on the sale of pattern coins in general at the mint 57 years ago, with particular reference to the stellars or $4 gold pieces of 1879 and 1880. It will be seen that the troubles of collectors of commemorative half dollars in 1935 and 1936 are not harder to bear than were those of the pioneer collectors of the country, even if they are somewhat different in character and origin. The letters reprinted were from Messrs. S. K. Harzfeld and John W. Haseltine, both prominent in their day as collectors and dealers in Philadelphia.)

United States Pattern Coins

Philadelphia, August 17, 1880.

The readers of Numisma recollect, perhaps, that the catalogue of my third public coin sale, Dec. 7, 1878, contained the following note in regard to the Standard dollar patterns issued in 1878:

"These patterns form but another leaf in the disgraceful story of the mismanagement of the United States Mint. In other countries the mint is the center from which numismatic knowledge emanates. In this country the mint abhors numismatic interests. It serves to coin money, to be run as a political machine, and to be abused by a certain class of its officials. It is a rule of the mint that patterns shall be sold only during the year of issue, but this year the sale of the Barber-Morgan dollars was refused by the mint, while the officials, in a clandestine manner, sold these patterns at enormous prices. Patterns forming a part of the numismatic progress and the history of coinage of a country should be sold by the mint to numismatists in limited numbers. As long as this is refused there will be fraud and disgrace."

When the attention of ex-Governor Pollock, then Superintendent of the Philadelphia Mint, was called to this note, he fell into considerable passion, and instructed the chief coiner, Major O. C. Bosbyshell, to call upon me and ask a formal public withdrawal of my charge, threatening, in case of refusal, with legal proceedings.

The chief coiner laid particular stress upon my use of the word "officials," which, according to his interpretation, referred exclusively to the superintendent and the three or four other principal "officers" of the Philadelphia Mint, a limited interpretation which I did not intend and could not admit. Are clerks, or assistants to the officers or the gentlemen connected with the Mint Bureau at Washington not "officials"?

At the very moment when I met the chief coiner, I had in my possession four pattern coins which I had the right to sell for $50, and which came from a gentleman whom I considered then, and consider now, an "official" of the U. S. Mint.

I found, however, that the word "officials" was, indeed, considered as synonymous with "officers," and that outside parties tried to make political and personal capital of my charge. But I did not intend to fight men whose personal integrity I had no right or reason to doubt. I wanted to fight the system. And so I addressed the following letter, which explains itself:

Philadelphia, Times Building, 12-5, 1878.

Hon. Governor Pollock, Superintendent U. S. Mint, City:

Dear Sir: Referring to my interview with Major Bosbyshell, I beg to state that I used the word "officials" in my note to lots 414-15 of my coin catalogue in a general sense, meaning not the "officers," but simply any parties connected with the U. S. Mint.

Whoever knows me knows that the note in question was not prompted by any personal or political consideration, but that I acted simply as numismatist in the interest of numismatists and numismatics. What I said has been repeated again and again by gentlemen of highest integrity of Boston, New York, and this city, and the sale or offering of recently issued patterns could be proven by numerous witnesses.

It is perfectly true that the chief coiner has no control over pieces as soon as they leave his hands, but just because he cannot prevent other parties who get patterns, etc., as official presents, as acts of courtesy, or in any other way, to sell such pieces at unfair prices or in an unfair manner, this ought to be an additional reason to issue and sell such patterns in the regular way like proof sets and medals.

Very Respectfully Yours,
S. K. HARZFELD.

This ended the matter so far as I was concerned. Shortly afterward Governor Pollock was removed from the mint, and Col. A. Loudon Snowden appointed as superintendent. Mr. Snowden had been in former years chief coiner, and it was repeatedly claimed that while he occupied that position regular coins and pattern pieces to an amount of $20,000, had been restruck off the genuine dies.

The Philadelphia Times of January 6, 1879, gave publicity to this charge, and scores of leading journals reprinted that article. It was never denied or corrected. I do not want it to be understood that Colonel Snowden was a party of or knew at the time of this fraudulent issue. But he could have prevented it by the safer keeping of the old dies, which, as I understand it, was part of his duties as chief coiner.

But all this was a matter of the past, and when Colonel Snowden was appointed Superintendent of the Philadelphia Mint I hailed it with sincere pleasure. He has a thorough knowledge of everything connected with mint affairs, had just proved to be a model postmaster, and was liked and esteemed by all who know him. I believed that he would inaugurate a new era in mint matters. If the mint merely serves to coin money, and to be run as a political machine, he has done so. But how as to the numismatic part?

The following facts speak for themselves:

In 1879 twenty sets of the metric patterns were issued, to be submitted to the members of the Committee on Coinage, Weights and Measures. In March of this year a collector of this city showed me one of these sets, asking me what he could pay for it. I thereupon wrote to a gentleman of the Treasury Department at Washington and received, dated March 24, the following reply:

"The metric sets are in great demand. I know of a gentleman offering $60 for a gold dollar alone. I have a set, for which I would not, however, take $100 . . . At the time I obtained my set I could not procure one, even from the Director of the Mint, and a friend, well qualified to judge of such matters told me that they would be very valuable."

Sub April 14 the same gentleman informed me, however:

"I find that Dr. Hubbell has induced the Committee on Coinage to authorize the Director of the Mint to have struck 100 more sets. This will make about 120 sets in existence. I do not know whether this has become public yet or not."

My surprise may be imagined when I learned shortly afterwards that besides these 120 sets 300 additional sets had been ordered and struck; that they were officially offered to members of Congress and personal or political friends on payment of the intrinsic value ($6.10); that these official notifications were used by friends of those to whom they were addressed, and that the clerks of the Washington departments had severally 3, 6, and more sets which they openly offered for sale. . . .

During all this time the respectable coin dealers and collectors could not get any of the sets at the Philadelphia Mint and were forced to negotiate for them with parties "who knew how to get them."

Will anybody deny that this is a shame and a disgrace? . . .

And I ask, whose fault is it; that of Director Burchardt or Superintendent Snowden?

The printed rules of the Mint, and even the coinage law, prohibit the striking and sale of coins and pattern pieces "after the year of their date," and "the dies shall be defaced at the end of each year." Yet 400 sets of the metric patterns, bearing date 1879, were struck in 1880. Of these, 250 sets found their way into miscellaneous hands; 150 sets are still in the vaults of the Mint. Of the original 20 sets, a few were sold as high as $100—to numismatists. The prices for the succeeding sets ranged from $50 a set down to $12.50.

I give the above facts, knowing them to be true, and being able to prove them. I repeat, I am not fighting persons. It makes no difference to me if the Director of the Mint is from Ohio, or hails from Zululand, if his name is Smith, Jones or Brown. But I want it understood—and I trust every honorable numismatist will joint me in this—that the coin business is a legitimate and honorable business, and coin collecting a legitimate and honorable pursuit, a study, and a branch of the fine arts, and I claim for coin dealers and collectors the same rights and privileges that are accorded to any political adventurer “if he knows where and how to apply.”

S. K. HARZFELD.

Philadelphia, July 14, 1880.

Dear Sir: My attention has been called to a notice in your paper, Numisma, under the head of “Metric Pattern Coinage 1879,” which does injustice to the officers of the mint here, and I feel it my duty both to you and them to set you right.

You say in the conclusion of your notice that “the price at which a re-strike may be had depends entirely upon the question how badly parties in the mint, etc., who were presented with them need money.”

The history of the striking of this coinage I have taken the trouble, with some difficulty, to obtain, and find the facts are as follows:

In the latter part of 1879, the Director of the Mint, at the instance of the Coinage Committee of the House, directed the Superintendent of the Mint to prepare 15 sets of the metric, stella and goloid coinage for the inspection of that committee. Subsequently, 100 sets in addition to that were ordered by the same committee, and again subsequently 300 sets were ordered. Of the latter, 150 sets still remain in the Mint in this city, and about 50 sets in the office of the Director at Washington. Of this whole number of pieces struck, but four sets are in the possession of the officers of the mint, and I may add here that striking these pieces was very much against the judgment of Colonel Snowden, Superintendent of the Mint in this city. The order to strike came from the Coinage Committee, and overrode the rules with regard to striking pieces of the year before. The action of the committee was ill-advised and is presumed to have been dictated by Mr. Hubbell, who is the patentee of this coinage, and who desired as large a number of pieces struck as possible, so as to familiarize the public with his patent.

The insinuation contained in your article “that the price of patterns would be regulated by the wants of persons in the Mint to whom this coinage was presented,” will, from a review of the facts I have given you, prove to have been quite an unjustifiable reflection against the character of the mint officials. Your informant, whoever he may be in this city, has evidently made a mistake in this particular case. The sets sold and offered for sale came through Congressmen, each of whom was entitled to a set. Many gave their orders to outsiders who entered into a speculation in their sale. Under the present management of the Mint here the greatest care is exercised to prevent unlawful issue, speculation or favoritism.

I have taken the trouble of correcting this statement more in the interest of truth than of anything else.

I am very respectfully yours,
JOHN W. HASELTINE.

Important Interview Between Mint Superintendent A. Louden Snowden and Mr. S. K. Harzfeld

The report of this interview herewith published will be perused with interest by our readers. Colonel Snowden manfully and successfully vindicates his action as mint superintendent in the matter of the issue of metric sets and takes the occasion to throw a better and much more favorable light on some past and obscure transactions at the mint. By his concession to the numismatic public of the pertinency of inquiry into mint affairs, Colonel Snowden—unlike the majority of office-holders—avows himself open to legitimate complaints, and frankly acknowledges that fair criticism is not unworthy of his careful consideration. The result of the interview is satisfactory in every point of view; it clears Colonel Snowden of personal aspersions lately made from several quarters, honors Mr. Harzfeld by showing that the latter's complaints were not altogether "much ado about nothing," and is a compliment to Numisma by the determination to publish in its columns a communication which would have been eagerly accepted and published by many papers with a wider circulation, but not a more earnest desire to place facts pertaining to any subject discussed in their true light.

Philadelphia, Oct. 12, 1880.

Almost simultaneously with the September number of Numisma I received a letter from A. Loudon Snowden, of the U. S. Mint, inviting me to call upon him and afford him an opportunity of presenting the facts and making some explanation which would, as he thought, put a different look on the case I presented in my correspondence as published in Numisma.

My interview with Colonel Snowden was highly satisfactory. He is too sensible a gentleman to deny what cannot be denied, but his explanation of matters has to be taken in respectful consideration.

Colonel Snowden admitted that 415 metric sets of 1879 were struck, 400 of them in 1880. The order was given by the Committee on Coinage early this year, and there being no hubs to duplicate the dies, the old dies with date 1879 were used.

The whole issue was against the judgment of the Director and Superintendent, but they had to obey the order of the Congressional Committee. The dies were ordered by the committee, as were also the pieces struck therefrom, and in no sense did either come within the regulations for the issue of pattern pieces. The superintendent was much opposed to the issue in the large quantities demanded, but was powerless, as his orders came through the Director of the Mint from the Coinage Committee. No pieces were issued, retained, or sold by the superintendent, nor can he or any other mint official be justly held responsible for the issue.

As to the 150 sets still in the vaults of the mint, the question arises whether they shall be melted up, as some propose, or sold to numismatists generally. In the first case, collectors would be still more in the hands of speculators than before. I therefore suggested the sale of the sets at $15, and Colonel Snowden promised to support my proposition at Washington if I on my part would secure the endorsement of this proposition by our leading numismatic societies, or prominent numismatists.

Coming to the other point, the restrike of $20,000 worth of coins and patterns, Mr. Snowden emphatically denied this. He did not deny that re-strikes were formerly issued at the mint. When his uncle, the late Mr. James Ross Snowden, was Director of the Mint, some coins, patterns, and experiment pieces were re-struck to exchange for other coins and medals needed in completing the mint collection. None of them were retained by the director, but they were used exclusively for the purpose named.

About this period an old employe of the mint, a relative of one of the first and most valuable officers of the mint, who had charge of the dies in the engraver's department, was discovered by the sales made by an erring son to have taken impressions from 1804 and some other dies. On this discovery vigorous efforts were put forth to recover the coins, and it is believed that most, if not all, were returned and destroyed, and precautions were taken to prevent a re-occurrence of a like error. Several of these dies were destroyed, and the balance—four or five in number—were boxed and sealed up and placed in the director's vault, where they remained unopened until the year 1868, during the Directorship of Dr. Linderman, when, under authority from the Treasury Department, four or five impressions were struck from each of the dies, which were then destroyed. Previously, Col. A. L. Snowden, who was then chief coiner, had all the old and experimental dies, numbering over seven hundred, destroyed by fire and the sledge hammer, in the presence of three persons. From these dies not a single impression was taken, although Colonel Snowden now deeply regrets impressions from some were not had for the Mint Cabinet, as among the dies were some by Gobrecht, from which no known impression is in existence.

"I have been," says Colonel Snowden, "connected with the mint since my boyhood, and value its well-being and honor, and I would not now nor have I ever participated in anything calculated to bring discredit upon the institution. I have always felt an interest in assisting legitimate coin collectors, but have constantly resisted favoritism. What I have done in the matter of destroying all dies of all previous years was in their interest—to prevent their improper use in the future. There are no dies now in the Mint dated previous to 1880 except the metric and stella and goloid dies of 1879, which are held subject to the orders of the Committee on Coinage. I am not only always open to suggestions but would invite expressions of opinions from all respectable numismatists.

If you have any complaints to make or suggestions to submit, come to me and you will always receive a respectful hearing."

I cheerfully accept the explanations of Colonel Snowden and believe them to be frank and full.

I may soon have occasion to take him at his word, in relation to the earlier issues of uncirculated halves, quarters, and dimes, over which there was so much trouble last year, from the action of certain persons, who by improper representations imposed upon the mint authorities and speculated on the result. I would here suggest to Mr. Snowden the propriety of issuing proof $1 and $3 gold pieces and charge a proportionate profit to cover the expense. Not every one can afford to buy a full gold set.

In concluding I want to say the following: I do not want to be understood that the coin business should be conducted on a sentimental basis. If a man, may he be connected with the mint or not, owns coins, he has the right to sell them as best he can. I object only to fraud and untruth.

As to the remarks in A. M. Smith's Guide, they have absolutely no bearing to the matter. Constitution, and law, are one thing, and the rules governing the mint quite another. And the idea that patterns should not be sold or presented at all is not in accordance with the usage of civilized countries or with the true interests of numismatics.

S. K. HARZFELD.

New York Numismatic Gossip

By Our New York
Correspondent

About the time we were writing our article last month we heard rumors that the position of assistant curator of the American Numismatic Society, formerly held by Robert Robertson, was to be filled by William L. Clark. As a collector of all kinds of coins Mr. Clark always was able to make a large exhibit at meetings of the Bronx Coin Club, of which he is a member. Unlike many other collectors, he was able to tell much about the history of the coins he exhibited. Usually Bill, as his fellow collectors call him, appropriated an entire table for his exhibit, showing coins of as many different countries as other members would show coins of all countries. We suspect he has his private museum and has been practicing being its curator as preparation for his new position. As a young numismatist Mr. Clark will take but little time in familiarizing himself with his new work.

When we called at Stack's last month on the day after we received notice that they were ready to distribute the 1937 Arkansas half dollars with the original reverse, our attention was called to two large packages of letters which were sent by air mail from North Dakota. They were in different kinds of envelopes, had different addresses and were written by different people. With only two old-time collectors in North Dakota in 1935, and a few new ones since then, the volume of mail was surprising, as was also the fact that money orders had consecutive numbers. Mr. Stack pointed this out as one of the difficulties of a distributor, but we have heard that $8.75 for a set was the cause of a lot of headaches for collectors.

One item of interest for those who have a bone to pick with distributors is that we heard of one who was recently in New York trying to dispose of 300 sets to any dealers who would buy them. It was said that he could hardly lift his bag, but that he had an additional quantity available if the first lot ran out. Incidentally, we know of collectors who were turned down because they were not unusually prompt in sending in their orders to this distributor.

We have noticed considerable enthusiasm this month in the various meetings of coin clubs. All were very well attended. The New York club turned out in goodly numbers and was especially honored by the presence of T. James Clarke and J. Henri Ripstra. Mr. Clarke brought with him an exhibit of U. S. coins of a kind seldom seen and which were the subject of much admiration. Mr. Ripstra brought nothing tangible with him, but his stories about collecting kept his audience interested for a half hour. The exhibits were especially fine, and Mr. Boyd put on a remarkably fine show when, like a magician, he pulled out of a brief case sheet after sheet of fractional currency. Bill Clark, the new assistant curator of the A. N. S., who was attending his first New York club meeting, commented that few other clubs could make such exhibits.

After an A. N. A. committee meeting held in Jamestown, Mr. Ripstra continued on to New York where he expected to spend only a few days in visiting his daughter, making several trips to the Metropolitan Museum of Art and browsing around a number of bookstores in search of books relating to Lincoln. He later had to change his plans and remained several days longer. His numismatic visits included one to the Chase Bank coin exhibit, one to the Brooklyn Coin Club and one to the New York Numismatic Club mentioned above. It was said that after both the club meetings he was spirited away by several collectors to a nearby restaurant and not released until the wee small hours of the morning. Mr. Ripstra closed the week by being shown around the museum of the American Numismatic Society, which is open to the general public. Among the coins he held in his hand was one of the four original Confederate half dollars. We hope he considered his visit to New York to be quite successful from a numismatic viewpoint.

Editorial Comment—Numismatic News

THE ANTIETAM COMMEMORATIVE HALF DOLLAR.

The officials of the Washington County (Maryland) Historical Society, which is sponsoring the Antietam half dollar, are hopeful—even confident—that their bill will pass the House of Representatives. The bill authorizing this coin passed both houses near the close of last year's session, but time did not permit the House to act on an amendment made to the bill in the Senate. It was reintroduced at the present session and passed the Senate several days ago.

So confident is the society that the bill will become law that designs have been prepared for the coin, which is illustrated here. The obverse has conjoined busts of Gen. George B. McCellan and Gen. Robert E. Lee, commanding the two armies engaged in the Battle of Antietam. The reverse shows the Burnside Bridge, which occupied a prominent part in the battle.

The battle was fought September 17th, 1862, and has been described by historians of the Civil War as not only a strategic struggle but the bloodiest one-day battle of the war, McCellan and Lee as the leaders of the opposing armies. It marked the first attempt of Lee to cross the Potomac to invade the North and beleaguer Washington.

The commemorative half dollars for the seventy-fifth anniversary celebration next September are designed as memorials, and incidentally to help pay the cost of the celebration, which will tie in with the 175th anniversary of the settlement of Hagerstown, Maryland, and the 200th anniversary of the founding of Washington county. Therefore, the triple celebration has much general significance and will mark a high spot in local annals.

It is proposed to climax the triple celebration with the re-enactment of several of the outstanding features of the battle, including "Bloody Lane" and "Burnside Bridge," in which national as well as State troops of Maryland, Virginia and West Virginia will participate on the battlefield. This event will take place on Friday, September 17th, 1937, the anniversary of the battle. President Roosevelt is expected to attend and make an address, also the Governors of many States.

A national commission has been appointed by President Roosevelt for the Antietam celebration, supplemented by a State commission appointed by Governor Nice, and a local commission. The project has the united support of all local agencies.

DESIGNS FOR THE PROPOSED GROVER CLEVELAND COIN.

If and when the bill authorizing the issue of a half dollar commemorating the one hundredth anniversary of the birth of Grover Cleveland passes Congress, the designs on the coin will follow closely the drawings illustrated here. The Caldwell Coin Club is sponsor for the coin. The designs are by Edwin D. Mott, a local artist.

The reverse shows the manse of the First Presbyterian Church in Caldwell, N. J., where Grover Cleveland was born in 1837. At that time his father was pastor of the church, but left that field when the future President was 4 years old.

MEDALS FOR AMERICAN EXPLORERS.

The French Administration des Monnaies et Medailles (French Mint) has recently issued two medals commemorating the adventures in North America of the French explorers, Pere Marquette and Cavalier de la Salle. North America is preparing to celebrate the tri-centennial of these two famous explorers, to whom we owe the discovery of a great part of Canada and the United States.

This commemoration indicates how far the memory of our great compatriots has remained alive in these countries. France imposed upon itself the duty of bringing to these well-intentioned activities its unstinted support in order to maintain its fame in foreign countries and to recall the glories of its past. Already an official mission under the patronage of the Franco-American Committee is on the way to America with the object of representing France on the occasion of this tercentenary.

The Paris Mint, in connection with its objective to issue medals on important occasions, has just produced these artistic pieces of work, which it hopes will have a favorable reception. The portraits of Baron de la Salle and Pere Marquette were designed by the famous engravers, Lavrillier and Delannoy.

A NOVEL TOKEN ISSUED BY C. D. PEACOCK, CHICAGO.

The appearance several years ago of a token of C. D. Peacock, Chicago jeweler, dated 1837, caused a mild sensation among collectors of Hard Times tokens because it was assumed that the piece was an addition to that series just come to light. It developed that the token was quite modern and that the date was not that of the issue, but of the establishment of the firm. It was the size of the large copper cent.

This year the firm is celebrating its one hundredth anniversary and has issued a token to commemorate the event, which is illustrated here. It is struck in brass and has on the obverse portraits of Elijah and C. D. Peacock. The reverse has a view of Fort Dearborn, 1830; the Ferris Wheel of the 1893 Chicago Exposition, and a vault door, at the bottom of which are shown flames. At the left of the vault door is an inscription in lettering so small it cannot be read with the naked eye, as follows: "This minute piece of steel is a souvenir of the Chicago fire of 1871. It was cut from the door of the Peacock vault, which withstood the flames and is at present in daily use at our store, State and Monroe streets." Below the inscription is a small piece of steel imbedded in the metal, making a novel and historical token.

Little Activity On Bills For Commemorative Coins

The crest of the flood of commemorative coin bills at this session of Congress seems to have been reached, and but few have been introduced the past month. The status of the entire lot of new bills seems to be just what it was the day after they were introduced—in the hands of the two committees to which they were referred. At the time this is written there are only two exceptions—the bills for the Norfolk and Antietam coins have passed the Senate.

The only other development during the month is that a number of the local clubs and societies have endorsed the bill introduced by Senator Maloney to regulate the issue of all commemoratives, which has the approval of L. W. Hoeffcker, chairman of the Legislative Committee of the A. N. A. Those clubs which have endorsed the bill have written to their Senators and Representatives asking them to support it. Those clubs which have not yet acted on the matter are asked to similarly endorse the bill and communicate with their representatives in Congress. Developments during the month will be found below. New bills are as follows:

Half Dollar for St. Paul's Hundredth Anniversary.

A BILL

To authorize the coinage of 50-cent pieces in commemoration of the one-hundredth anniversary of the original establishment and founding of the city of St. Paul, Minn., as a settlement, following treaties with the Sioux Indians.

An issue of not to exceed 20,000 half dollars in commemoration of the one-hundredth anniversary of the settlement and establishment of the city of St. Paul is asked in this bill. The coins would be dated 1937 irrespective of the year in which they are coined and would be issued only upon request of the St. Paul Commemorative Coin and Celebration Committee, Inc., affiliated with the St. Paul Junior Association of Commerce. Not less than 5000 coins would be issued at any one time, and no coins would be issued after the expiration of one year from the passage of the bill.

Atlanta, Ga., Wants Coin for One Hundredth Anniversary.

A BILL

To authorize the coinage of 50-cent pieces in commemoration of the one-hundredth anniversary of the city of Atlanta, and for other purposes.

This bill authorizes a maximum issue of 25,000 half dollars, to be issued only upon the request of the Atlanta Centennial Commission. Not less than 5000 coins shall be issued at any one time, and none would be issued after the expiration of one year from the passage of the bill. The coins would be dated 1937, irrespective of the year in which they are coined.

"Old Hickory" Division, U. S. Army, Asks for Half Dollar.

A BILL

To authorize the coinage of 50-cent pieces in commemoration of the twentieth anniversary of the organization of the Thirtieth (Old Hickory) Division, United States Army.

This bill authorizes an issue of not more than 25,000 half dollars to commemorate the twentieth anniversary of the organization of the Thirtieth (Old Hickory) Division, American Expeditionary Forces. The coins would bear the date 1937 irrespective of the year in which they are coined, and not less than 10,000 would be issued at any one time, and none would be coined after the expiration of one year from the passage of the act. The coins would be issued only upon the request of the General Committee for the 1937 Reunion of the Old Hickory Division Veterans and the South Carolina National Bank of Greenville, S. C.

The Town of Romney, W. Va., Wants Coin.

A BILL

To authorize the coinage of 50-cent pieces in commemoration of the one hundred and seventy-fifth anniversary of the founding of the town of Romney, W. Va.

An issue of 25,000 half dollars is asked in this bill, and they would be issued only upon the request of the chairman or secretary of the Romney Anniversary Commission.

Would Commemorate the Aroostock War With Half Dollar.

A BILL

To authorize the coinage of 50-cent pieces in commemoration of the one hundredth anniversary of the Aroostock War, which led to the settlement of the international boundary line between the United States and Canada through the Webster-Ashburton Treaty.

To commemorate this event an issue of 50,000 coins is asked. They would bear the date 1938 irrespective of the year in which they are struck, and would be coined at "the mints" of the United States. Not less than 25,000 pieces would be issued at one time and none would be coined after the expiration of one year. They would be issued upon request of the Aroostock Development Association.

Sale of the Roanoke Coin Still in Progress.

"Speculation in the field of memorial coins by a few unscrupulous dealers constitutes a problem to organizations fostering historical commemorations," declares D. B. Fearing, chairman of the Roanoke Island Historical Association, the group which is actively sponsoring the celebration of the 350th anniversary of the founding of the first English colony at Fort Raleigh. This celebration, which starts on July 4 and ends on September 4, reaches its climax on August 18, the birthday of Virginia Dare, first white child of English parentage born in this country.

This organization has charge of the issuance of the Virginia Dare-Sir Walter Raleigh commemorative half dollar, and it is because of the high price and misrepresentation of some coin dealers in marketing this piece that Mr. Fearing has been aroused to a very real danger to the public.

"There are several instances which have been reported to us in detail where dealers have declared the issue of this commemorative piece exhausted," says Mr. Fearing. "That is definitely not so. We have approximately 8000 of these half dollars available to order through either the Roanoke Island Historical Society or the Roanoke Colony Memorial Association of Manteo. And it is ridiculous to pay a dealer between two and three dollars when these coins may be secured from us at a cost of one dollar and sixty-five cents, fifteen cents of which covers postage, insurance and handling. All proceeds from the sale of these coins will be used in defraying expenses incidental and appropriate to the commemorative festival. So when a dealer claims this issue is exhausted he is talking through his hat. We have enforced the rule that no more than ten coins are available to any one person, and we reserve the right to reject any order that looks to us as if it were a ringer for a dealer. Orders will be filled in the order of their receipt, but only when accompanied by check, postal or express money order."

Bill For Another Constitution Half Dollar.

A second bill authorizing an issue of half dollars commemorating the 150th anniversary of the adoption of the Constitution has been introduced in the Senate. This was by Senator Guffey, of Pennsylvania. It would authorize an issue of 200,000 pieces, and they would be distributed by the Mayor of Philadelphia. The previous bill was introduced in the House by Mr. Evans, of New York, in January, and in the Senate by Senator Copeland, of New York.

Long Island Tercentenary Commission Closes Office.

The commission in charge of the sale of the Long Island Tercentenary half dollar has closed its offices. Of the 100,000 coins struck, it is reported that 81,773 were sold, the remainder being returned to the mint for melting.

Bill For Antietam Coin Reported To Senate.

Senate Bill 102, providing for the issue of coins commemorating the anniversary of the Battle of Antietam, was reported to the Senate on March 23 by the Committee on Banking and Currency. This bill failed to become law at the last session of Congress, as the House did not concur in an amendment to the bill in the Senate.

Delaware Swedish Tercentenary Half Dollar.

During the latter part of March and in April the Delaware Swedish Tercentenary half dollar was distributed by the commission in charge.

The coin is dated 1936, although the commemorative dates are 1638-1938. The sculptor's models for the coin were illustrated in our March issue.

All Cleveland Coins Dated 1936.

It is understood that the 25,000 Cleveland (Great Lakes Exposition) half dollars reported coined during this year are dated 1936, being the remainder of the authorized issue. It is not probable that any Cleveland coins dated 1937 will be issued.

Distribution of the New Rochelle Half Dollar.

The commission in charge of the New Rochelle half dollar began distribution the middle of April. The coin is dated 1938 and all are from one mint.

The Supply of Philippine Commemorative Sets.

In our April issue it was stated in a letter from Gilbert S. Perez, of Manila, that the remainder of the Philippine commemorative sets would now be placed on sale and that about 2000 sets were available at the Treasury and Bureau of Insular Affairs.

A letter has been received from C. F. Brown, disbursing agent for Philippine Revenues, Washington, D. C., under date of March 25, as follows:

"The small supply of Philippine commemorative coins received in this bureau became exhausted several weeks ago, and no more will be available here. It is suggested that you write to Manila, P. I., with reference to securing the commemorative coins you desire. This bureau has not been informed as to the price at which they are sold by the Insular Treasurer."

NO COINS FOR COLUMBIAN EXPOSITION, 1892-93, STRUCK IN PROOF.

Occasionally we are asked if any of the half dollars of the Columbian Exposition of 1892-93 were struck in proof. The reason for the inquiry perhaps is the fact that occasionally these coins listed as "proofs" are offered for sale in our advertising columns. In the interest of fairness and honesty in such matters we have been shown a copy of a letter signed by M. M. O'Reilly, Acting Director of the Mint, dated May 14, 1936, addressed to a gentleman in Waterbury, Conn., the last sentence of which reads as follows: "No proof coins were struck in the Columbian commemorative series of 1892-93."

A PROSPECTIVE BUYER'S VIEWS ON COMMEMORATIVES.

It cannot be denied that commemorative coins have done more to stimulate coin collecting than anything else, but the flood of prospective issues can also be detrimental to numismatics. New collectors won to numismatics by the commemorative series can easily become "sour" by too many issues. If the newly won collector is confronted with unwarranted disappointments he is quite likely to lose interest and sell his collection, instead of becoming a lifelong numismatist that would be an asset to our hobby. These disappointments can be due to his inability to get coins from the various commissions, due to limited quantities being issued, and therefore will have to pay considerably more if he wishes to obtain one, or possibly he cannot afford to spend the money the proposed flood of new commemoratives will entail.

Please understand that this is not "sour grapes" on my part, as I have, with, but one exception, received all issues from the commissions at the original prices (including the rare Boones, Captain Cook, Columbias, Cincinnati, etc., and others that are now selling considerably above the original price). The exception mentioned is an issue in which local "citizens" purchased the entire issue, although the commission held my money for nearly five months.

Dealers have always tended to be fair to their customers and content to make a reasonable profit on their investment. Commissions, on the other hand, do not always have the collectors' interest at heart, as they themselves are seldom interested in numismatics and, unlike the dealer, do not expect at a later date to have further dealings with their customers. The statement "if they do not like the size, style or price of the issue, the remedy is theirs—they can keep their money," displays the utter lack of understanding of many commissions regarding numismatics. A genuine collector does not blacklist a coin of his specialty because it was issued by a tyrant or rebel government, or because he does not like the style or size, but it does not necessarily follow that he approves of its issue. Even when sending a diplomatic letter and remittance to the commission he may have only the darkest of thoughts in his mind.

It is not my intention to attempt to dictate what others shall collect, but at least I am not alone in my belief that some regulation must be brought to bear on issues commemorating events not national in scope. I heartily favor Senator Maloney's bill to regulate commemoratives and, if it should fail to pass, I will support the bill introduced by Senator Adams. This bill would abolish commemorative coins. I do not wish to see commemoratives go the way of the dodo, but I certainly have no intention of even trying to keep up with the proposed new issues. I do not desire to miss any new issues, but can see no other course than to withdraw in favor of other collectors—if speculators don't beat them to it.

Badges will be handled under the general convention committee. The registration will be handled by one of the local civic bodies.

The president then called upon each one present to tell if they had any other hobby or hobbies other than collecting coins. These informal chats brought out that members were interested in gardening, woodworking, stamp collecting, books, and music as side lines to their main interest in collecting coins and the study of numismatics. A coin auction was held and some twenty-five lots were disposed of, during which, spirited bidding took place.

DETROIT COIN CLUB—309th meeting, March 4, 1937. Thirty members and one visitor were present.

Judson E. Smith was elected a member.

President Needels told of the Detroit News being informed of our information bureau, where they could refer inquiries concerning coins. It seems that this was the reason why the News hesitated to give much publicity to coins. The report was that after each article they published several hundred inquiries would be received, and they were not in a position to give this subject time for intelligent answers. If this fact were observed it might correctly be thought that this is positive evidence that there are a large number of people anxious to learn about coins. Many of these inquirers would become true numismatists if only given a little encouragement to start in the hobby.

Mr. Hubel, chairman of the entertainment committee, informed us of plans for future enjoyable gatherings.

Mr. Nevison, chairman of the publicity committee, reported on favorable contacts made with the local newspapers.

Mr. Fulton reported on the progress to date of our proposed Michigan half dollar. He read his correspondence, much of which was with our Congressmen and Senators, and all very favorable.

Mr. Brisley, chairman of the commemorative coin committee, made his report of developments to date on our proposed Michigan half dollar. He reported on the committee's visit to Mayor Couzens. He read the resolution of the Council meeting on our Michigan coin, which was approved and passed unanimously by the Council. Mr. Brisley spoke at length, giving much interesting and encouraging information toward our securing a Michigan commemorative half dollar.

On exhibit this evening was a second display of very select Washington and Lincoln medals, and another exhibit of badges. Messrs. Stehfest, Noyes, Rapp and Nevison were exhibitors.

DETROIT COIN CLUB—310th meeting called to order by First Vice-President Joseph Kaller, March 18, 1937. Twenty-nine members and two visitors were present.

Mr. Stehfest made a motion that we pay the bill to cover cost of flowers for Mrs. Needels' funeral.

Concerning our having a more spacious room for our meetings, Mr. Brisley again cited the Henry VIII room at the Statler, where the stamp club meets. Mr. Brisley was authorized to investigate and rent such space if it can be secured at the stipulated figure.

Mr. Brisley, chairman of the commemorative coin committee, reported favorable news on recent progress toward securing our Michigan commemorative half dollar. Mr. Dworkowski read a letter from Mr. Hoffecker concerning our coin. Mr. Dworkowski then made a motion as follows: That the secretary write to Senators Prentiss M. Brown, Arthur H. Vandenberg and all our seventeen Representatives, together with Senator Maloney, and inform them that the Detroit Coin Club is very much in favor of the bill S. 1628, introduced by Senator Maloney on February 19th, to regulate the coinage of commemorative half dollars, and request that they support same when it comes before them. Motion carried.

Chairman of the exhibit committee, Mr. Bowen spoke, informing us of arrangements made for our exhibit at the Hobby Show in Convention Hall April 2 to 11. He informed us that we were to have available at the show space for five trays of coins. Mr. Bowen made inquiry as to who would have coins in the exhibit. Mr. Brisley promised to show Washington and Lincoln medals; Mr. Telfer, odd coins of the world; Messrs. Schill and Razek, commemorative coins of the U. S.; Mr. Dworkowski, half and dollar size copper coins. Mr. Bowen informed us that all coins on exhibit would be fully insured.

Our visitor, Mr. Gray, of Saginaw, exhibited some very nice coins, including many uncirculated and very scarce United States quarters.

DETROIT COIN CLUB—311th meeting, April 1. In order to give those desiring to exhibit coins at the Michigan Exposition and Hobby Show an opportunity to take their material to the exhibit this evening, the meeting was made brief. Twenty-seven members and one guest were present.

The application to membership of Arthur L. Gray was turned over to the investigation committee.

Mr. Brisley, chairman of our commemorative committee, reported a possible hitch in our securing a Michigan coin. He informed us of a bill introduced by Senator Adams to eliminate all commemorative halves. Some discussion followed which concluded with the promise from the committee that they would investigate and do what they deemed best toward assisting in securing our coin, and the passing of the Senator Maloney regulation of commemoratives bill.

Some discussion arose concerning the insufficient expense allowance to the commemorative committee. They were originally allotted $25, and one bill of $11.34, which covered circulars and publicity through schools and educational institutions by Mr. Nevison, was suggested as a separate item. This did not prove popular. Mr. Bixler made a motion that this item should be considered a committee expense, following this, Mr. Trautman made an amendment that $10 additional be allotted the committee. Motion carried.

Mr. Fulton read his report of most recent efforts and progress toward the securing of our coin.

DES MOINES COIN CLUB—Twelfth meeting, April 9, Secretary Cole presiding. Eleven members and four visitors were present.

L. K. Ferguson, of Ames, Iowa was admitted as a member.

Mr. Radke made a motion which was seconded that we consider seriously an Iowa commemorative half dollar. A committee of five was appointed to make plans for the introduction of such a bill in Congress.

Election of officers for the ensuing year will be held at our next meeting.

Mr. Radke gave a very interesting talk on our early United States money, relating the various articles used as a medium of exchange by the colonists and their subsequent adoption of our standard issues.

Plans were made for a type collection of United States Coins to be placed on exhibit at the local Y. M. C. A. for one week. We intend, through this exhibit, to create enough interest to sponsor a junior coin club.

Exhibits were as follows:

Mr. Bohler: Commemorative half dollars.

Mr. Radke: Spanish pieces-of-eight, which were largely used by the colonists for trade.

Mr. Cann, librarian and curator, reported on the club's library, and magazines.

The feature of the evening was Mr. Hughes' talk on Trade dollars and the twenty-cent pieces, which was very interesting and informative.

The nominating committee, having gone into recess, returned and recommended the following for the new officers: For president, Mr. McCormick; vice-president, Mr. Perlitz; secretary and treasurer, Mr. Requard; board of governors, the three names just mentioned, together with Messrs Duffield, Warfield, Drs. Plummer and Schaffer. Mr. Bash was suggested for librarian and curator.

The names were received and posted for the election at the next business meeting.

The banquet committee reported that the second anniversary dinner, as previously advised, would be held at the Hotel Longfellow on March 18, and invited the members to send in their acceptance promptly. Also that Messrs. Wormser and Zerbe, of New York, were expected to attend as guests and speakers.

BALTIMORE COIN CLUB—March 18. The meeting was held at the Longfellow Hotel, the occasion being the annual dinner commemorative of the second anniversary of the club.

The regular procedure was dispensed with and the reading of the minutes for the previous meeting postponed until the meeting on April 1st.

He also proposed that the club adopt some method of avoiding deficits in the future in connection with the annual banquet. This was held over to a later date.

At the suggestion of Mr. Strauss, it was ordered that a resolution on the death of our member, H. G. Hilken, be spread upon the minutes on a separate page.

It being the date for the election of new officers, the names proposed by the nominating committee under Mr. Williams were put in nomination, namely, Mr. McCormick, for president; Mr. Perlitz, for vice-president, and George Requard, for secretary and treasurer. The board of governors to be the three above and Messrs. Schaffer, Plummer, Warfield and Duffield. Mr. Bash was proposed for librarian and curator. The nominations were closed and the secretary was instructed to cast a ballot for the slate.

Mr. Duffield then resumed the chair and expressed his appreciation for the year he had enjoyed as president by commenting briefly on the various incidents of that period. He then greeted the new officers, who responded with appropriate remarks for their coming tenure of office. The Club meets every other Monday evening in the Canton Public Library. All collectors interested are invited to get in touch with the Club Secretary, Dr. H. L. Dell, Box 565, Canton, Ohio.

ATLANTA COIN CLUB—April 7. In the absence of President R. C. Davis, Vice-President D. R. Sanders presided.

The most important item of business on the club calendar was taken up, that of the Atlanta Centennial half dollar. This year has been designated as the one hundredth since the site of Atlanta was determined by a stake driven in the ground by Col. Stephen Long, who was then surveying a railroad through Georgia. The little wilderness village started at that spot was called Terminus, and was to grow into the metropolis of Greater Atlanta.

A member of the Atlanta Coin Club, Benj. B. DuBose, after a discussion at a club meeting, first called the attention of city officials to the appro-piateness of the occasion for the issuance of a commemorative coin. The idea was enthusiastically adopted and backed, and a bill authorizing the issue has been introduced in Congress by Representative Ramspeck. It is proposed to honor Colonel Long by placing his likeness on the obverse of the coin. A life-size bust from which the design will be taken has been modeled by Julian A. Harris, widely-known sculptor.

The members of the Atlanta Coin Club, in sponsoring this proposed commemorative coin, are well aware of the large number of similar bills at present before Congress, all of which are no doubt equally deserving of passage. Yet in passing a resolution asking for the support of all fellow-members of the A. N. A. as well as non-member collectors, the club asks that consideration be given to the fact that this State has never had a commemorative coin in its own right, despite its many historical associations; that Atlanta is the largest city in the Southeast, with the only active coin club in the Southeast, and a city which has attained national prominence for many reasons. In addition, the integrity of the club is behind its pledge that all collectors shall have a fair and equal chance to obtain specimens, and at a fair price.

BOSTON NUMISMATIC SOCIETY—March 29. The society dined and held its regular monthly business meeting at the Boston City Club. Eight members and two guests were present.

Attention was called to Senate Bill 1628, soon to come up for action, providing for new regulations governing the issuing and distribution of commemorative half dollars, which won the hearty approval of all present and the society voted to go on record in its support, and the secretary was instructed to so inform the Senators from Massachusetts and bespeak their support of said bill.

The members were treated to an exceptionally interesting talk by Archibald B. Roosevelt, Jr., on "Anglo-Saxon Coinage."

Exhibits were as follows: Mr. Roosevelt: A selection of Anglo-Saxon, Gothic, and other coins illustrating his talk.

Mr. Stafford: A rare aureus of Augustus, and gold pieces of Theophilus and Heraclius.

ST. PAUL NUMISMATIC ASSOCIATION—The eleventh meeting was held March 23rd, President Buetow presiding. There were nineteen members and visitors present.

Carl M. Becken, of Minneapolis; Malcolm A. Gustafson and Paul P. Zygo, of St. Paul, were elected members.

Following a brief business meeting, Messrs. Bailie, Buetow and Fifer gave a talk on commemorative half dollars, and Mr. Thomas on early Colonial coins.

Recently several of the members were most fortunate in purchasing a collection of rare Chinese coins which are in a very fine state of preservation. These were mounted in four wooden frames, which made a very attractive and interesting exhibit. They will again be exhibited by the owners at the Hobby Show which is being held at the St. Paul Y. M. C. A. building this month.

PACIFIC COAST NUMISMATIC SOCIETY—258th meeting, was called to order by President Knabenschuh, March 31st. Twenty-one members and eleven guests were present.

Mr. Mitchell, of the commemorative coin committee, advised the membership regarding recent developments.

Mr. Webb, of the auction committee, advised that the auction at the last meeting had netted about $6 for the society.

Mr. Parker, of the membership committee, stated that two applications were on hand to be voted on.

It was decided to set 6.30 P. M. as the hour for the annual banquet and to invite the president of the Junior Coin Collectors.

The secretary read Senate Bill 1628, regulating the issuance of commemorative coins, and after discussion it was duly moved, seconded and carried that the society approve the bill and so notify our Senators and Representatives.

Elwood Ellinger was elected to active membership and A. Brovelli was elected to non-resident membership.

Mr. Wilson called the attention of the membership to two outstanding numismatic events during the month, both of which had been put on by Mr. Wernstrom. One was a numismatic evening for the Pacific Philatelic Society, and the other a Chinese program for the Junior Coin Collectors, both of which had occasioned much favorable comment. Mr. Wernstrom announced that an A. N. A. district meeting would be held on the evening of April 19th and invited all members and their friends. He also rendered a preliminary report for the 1939 A. N. A. Convention committee.

Continuing our United States series, Mr. Parker spoke on large cents, and Mr. Schneider on the small cents. Mr. Kraft spoke on coins of the small Italian states. All the talks were accompanied by fine exhibits.

HARTFORD NUMISMATIC SOCIETY—31st meeting, March 17. President Scott opened the meeting with ten members and two guests present.

The secretary was appointed a committee to go over the proposed bill to control the issuing of commemorative half dollars and write our Congressmen our approval or disapproval.

George H. Cohen, of Hartford, and A. A. Campbell were elected new members.

Tickets for the first annual State banquet of numismatists on April 8 at Ye Cabin Grille, Meriden, were on sale.

Mr. Bates read a paper on early engraved Connecticut bills of credit, dated from 1709-46, and exhibited many photostatic copies.

President Scott donated to the club's collection 14 medals. Mr. Wickes donated a medal to the club.

Following the regular club auction the meeting adjourned.

NORTHWEST COIN CLUB—March 18. President Ward presided, fourteen members and guests present.

The principal speaker of the evening, Prof. Playford Reed, director of athletics and coach at the St. Paul Central High School, was unable to attend.

A Chinese coin collection, jointly owned by Roy Fillmore and Hjalmer Carlson, was on display. This collection consisted of various forms of knife, bar, fan and key money. The pieces were very neatly mounted.

April 1st—Meeting called to order by President Ward at the Curtis Hotel, Minneapolis. Twenty-five members and guests were present.

At this meeting Professor Reed gave his postponed talk on guns. He traced the history of guns as to the early makes, size, bores, sights, breech-loading and different manufacturers' specialties. He had several guns with him, including one that had belonged to a member of the Jesse James gang.

Jefferson T. Warren had a very interesting set of Vatican commemorative coins from the one centesimo (bronze) to 100 lire (gold). These coins commemorated the reconciliation of the Vatican and Italy in 1929. One thousand sets were struck, half of which were given to the Pope and the remaining 5000 sold by a commission in Italy. Mr. Warren obtained his through the commission.

THE NUMISMATIC AND ANTIQUARIAN SOCIETY OF PHILADELPHIA—March 22. A stated meeting of the society was held by invitation of Mr. William S. Ashbrook at the Franklin Inn Club. Nineteen members and several guests were present.

The secretary reported he had made an effort to confirm the addresses of corresponding members, which, so far, had been only partly successful.

The curator emeritus of numismatics, Mr. Langenheim, exhibited new accessions, thirteen pieces. At his request he was authorized to purchase a sheet of eight Continental notes for $5.

The librarian was authorized to employ Miss Margaret Ferris Grant to acknowledge, catalogue and file accessions to the library during the current year.

The historiographer, Mr. Morris, read a brief note on our late member, Clarence B. Moore.

For the program committee Mr. Longstreth reported they were planning for the usual meeting in April and that Mr. Hoffman and Mr. Jenkins had promised to entertain the society at outing meetings later in the spring.

Dr. Henry Pleasants, Jr., was elected a resident member.

Mr. Garrison reminded the society that May 13 would be the 100th anniversary of the birth of Daniel G. Brinton and inquired if the society would be favorable to sending a resolution and a representative to the centenary celebration, Dr. Brinton having been president of our society for some fifteen years. It was unanimously agreed that the society would favor such a resolution and Mr. Garrison was requested to prepare it and present it at the April meeting.

A letter was read from Mr. Richard E. Norton, curator of numismatics, asking the society to consider the appointment of Mr. Alfred Norris as associate curator of numismatics. Mr. Norris was elected associate curator.

At 9 P. M. the meeting took a recess to listen to an address by Mr. Horace W. Castor on "Colonial Frankford." This proved to be unusually entertaining and interesting. On motion of Mr. Morris the society extended its thanks to Mr. Castor for a most interesting paper, which they hoped would be expanded and put in permanent form.

The meeting adjourned at 10.20 P. M., and enjoyed the usual hospitalities.

PHILADELPHIA COIN CLUB—In celebration of our being one and a half years old, the regular meeting was held, April 8th, at the "Tally-Ho" Restaurant, with twenty-six members and four guests present. All enjoyed a fine supper, which was followed by the meeting being called to order by President Samuel K. Faucett.

Much of the business was held over until the next meeting. Three new applicants were voted members, William M. Boyle, J. C. Lightfoot, Jr., and Ferdinand J. Schaefer, and three applications were received for action at the next meeting. We feel proud of our enrollment of sixty active members, but feel that there are still many in this vicinity who should be members and request that all who read this letter visit us at one of our regular meetings.

The question of insurance for members exhibits at the coming Hobby League display was argued, with the result that the entire matter was left to the judgment of the committee and the exhibitors.

As is the usual custom, at our supper-meetings each member donated a coin, in a sealed envelope, which was auctioned "sight unseen", with the proceeds going to the club treasury. While no great bargains were reported by the purchasers, the enjoyment received made up for the small financial loss.

The door prize was won by Robert A. Lee, which was a copy of the very rare Chapman's work on 1794 cents. Following the meeting the usual auction was held, which included a number of the more recent commemorative half dollars.

SEATTLE COIN CLUB—March 25th, President Fouts in the chair and 17 members present.

The club went on record as favoring bill S. 1628, placing certain restrictions on the issuance of commemorative half dollars. The secretary was instructed to write all Washington Senators and Congressmen recommending that they vote in favor of this bill.

A. C. Dermond and Paul L. Stanford were admitted to membership.

President Fouts introduced Dr. Melton F. Butler, who spoke to the club on some of the European sources of our wars and depressions. Dr. Butler brought out how the Bank of England, established in 1694, had much to do with refusing a sufficient supply of money for the use of our colonial pioneers, and thereby greatly hampering the prosperity of our early Colonies, as an adequate supply of cash was very necessary for their proper development. Later, after the Revolutionary War had been won and our forefathers were struggling to lay the foundation of a great new nation, the foreign financial interests were again responsible for the conditions leading up to the War of 1812, as well as the depression during Jackson's administration, and definitely to blame in large measure for the enormous money problems that almost caused President Lincoln a complete breakdown in health.

Dr. Butler pointed out that just prior to the World War the solicitude of foreign banks over the establishment of our Reserve System was not so much for our own welfare as for the enormous benefit they saw in the arrangement for themselves. The extravagant loans later negotiated with this country were proof indeed of their well-laid plans. He drew a very clear picture of the many underlying influences directly behind some of our major financial difficulties and was heartily applauded at the conclusion of his talk. Dr. Fouts exhibited some of the slave badges used in the South identifying the slave and giving owner's name on back.

Mr. Saeman displayed about 100 various sales-tax tokens and vouchers used throughout the United States.

In addition, there were several varieties of Irish Free State money, Syrian drachmas and tetradrachms and some Roman first bronzes.

OMAHA COIN CLUB—34th regular meeting, April 2nd, at the home of our president, M. S. Hartman, and we had a splendid attendance. Mr. Hartman has devoted the third floor to his diversified collections, which proved so entertaining that our regular business got under way with difficulty, after which Mrs. Hartman was on hand with most delicious refreshments. Individual dishes of ice-cream in the form of gold coins were specially designed for the occasion by artisans of the Fairmont Creamery as a distinct novelty.

New members are Miss Margaret Hamilton, Dr. J. H. Judd, Addison W. Wilson and E. Albert Lucke. Correspondence was received from member A. P. Ford relative to his transfer to Kansas City, report of President Clark of the A. N. A., and from the Detroit Coin Club and Norfolk Advertising Board as to new commemoratives.

A letter was read from Chairman Hoffecker, of the A. N. A. Legislative committee, together with Senate Bill 1628, regulating the issuance of commemorative coins. Our secretary was instructed to express the sentiments of this gathering in favor of the principles covered in this bill, and the intention of individual members to do their utmost in contributing to its success.

Messrs. Thorson, Blaufuss and Rath sack were appointed a nominating committee, and Messrs. Allwine, Thorson and Pilmaier were appointed a committee to arrange for an appropriate meeting in May at which our annual elections will take place.

TO A. N. A. MEMBERS.

In view of the approaching annual convention of the A. N. A. in Washington in August, with the election of officers, it seems proper to state at this time that omission in the pages of The Numismatist of matters of a political nature is due to a resolution adopted at the Minneapolis Convention last year, which reads as follows:

"Resolved, That it is the sense of this convention that in the future the Editor and Business Manager shall decline to receive any paid advertising of a political nature, and that all discussion of political questions shall be eliminated in the reading pages, including mention of endorsement or nominations of candidates for election, and that only the official nominations of candidates through the General Secretary shall be published."

MORRIS—HARPER.

It is announced that the wedding of J. H. Morris, Jr., and Miss Opal E. Harper, both of Birmingham, Ala., will take place on May 4, 1937, and that they will reside at 409 Woodland Avenue, Homewood, Ala.

Both are members of the A. N. A. and they are the joint owners of a complete set of commemorative half dollars which they had on exhibition at the Minneapolis convention last year, mounted in a novel manner. Both are looking forward to attending the Washington convention this year and renewing the acquaintances formed at their first convention.

FRENCH 100 FRANCS WERE MINTED.

I have read with interest the article entitled "The Currency of France" appearing in the April issue of The Numismatist, being a paper read before the Baltimore Coin Club on February 4th by George Requard.

The latter part of the final paragraph of this paper reads: "It was intended to coin gold in denominations of 100 francs, and it was said at the time that some coins have been made and were held in the Banque de France. But none have ever been seen, and though I have tried to obtain a specimen abroad none could be had. If they ever were made they must all have been melted again, but probably the whole thing is a myth."

It may be of interest to numismatists to know that not only were 100-franc gold pieces minted recently by the French Government, but a number were released, although none were placed in general circulation. Two specimens can be seen at the Chase Bank coin collection in this city. They are of a size approximating the American half eagle.

NIAGARA COUNTY (N. Y.) STAMP AND COIN CLUB.

The Niagara County (N. Y.) Stamp and Coin Club recently organized is flourishing and reports an attendance of some sixty members at their sixth meeting. Meetings are held once a month in the Gasport High School, and once in Lockport, N. Y. Meetings are held every other week on Wednesdays, which is rather an unusual schedule, but allows more meetings per year than if dates are fixed on certain days only.

Auctions are held once a month in Lockport, a social meeting with refreshments usually in Gasport. There are several lady members in the stamp and coin section as well. While a majority are stamp collectors, several new applicants to the A. N. A. are ardent coin enthusiasts. T. W. Connette, of Lockport, is president of the club.

Members come from Niagara Falls, Medina and many other towns within the county. A most cordial welcome is assured all visitors. R. H. L.

MAUMEE VALLEY COIN CLUB BANQUET POSTPONED.

The Maumee Valley Coin Club wishes to announce that the banquet and coin exhibit, previously announced for April 3, has been changed to May 15th. The coin exhibit will be held some time during the month of November.

What Coins Have You to Sell? What Coins Would You Like To Buy?

Here is your opportunity through our brokerage service to sell your surplus stock of coins or fill in your shortages. The seller may offer the item he has for sale, naming his "asking" price and receive "bids" for his coins, which he may or may not accept. The buyer may list his requirements and be sure that he will get what he needs at a price that will be satisfactory to him.

In other words, you fill in the quantities and prices of the coins you would like to purchase and fill in the quantities and prices at which you offer any coins on our list.

The purpose of this Coin Brokerage Exchange is to bring together both the buyers and sellers from all over the country, where the buyer may fill his requirements and the seller dispose of his coins at the most favorable prices to both.

Our brokerage charge is 5 per cent. for buying or selling. Where amount paid or received on coins bought or sold does not total $5.00, our minimum charge is 25 cents.

These bulletins are issued and mailed once each week. Thus your wants are advertised to the people who are able to fill them, at no cost whatsoever to you.

Send 50c. and start receiving these bulletins once a week for one year. This 50c. is refunded on the first buying or selling order received from you amounting to $10.

POSTAGE STAMPS WANTED FOR CASH

There is now a "boom" on U. S. Postage Stamps, especially unused 20th century, as well as on Commemorative Coins. The blocks or sheets of the Columbians, Pilgrims, Huguenot-Walloons, or other commemorative stamps which you purchased at face are now worth several times this amount, and many of the higher denominations are worth "real money."

Now is the time to cash in on your "profits." Sit right down and prepare a list of what you have to offer and mail to me; or, better still, just ship the stamps if you wish. They will be held intact until a trade is made, and in the event we fail to reach an agreement they will be returned just as received and no harm done. I am interested in purchasing practically anything in the way of U. S. stamps; collections, accumulations, unused sheets, etc.

Prompt handling of ALL shipments or inquiries GUARANTEED.

Notice to Holders of BRETON CATALOGUE

OR THE

PARK COIN GUIDE

We have now completed an up-to-date price-list, describing each coin as follows: In some issues there were 6 different metals used. All of these are outlined, and a great many errors also are mentioned, which have made the coins so rare today.

This price-list is right up to date by listing all Canadian silver and copper from 1858 and each year up to 1920; lists also proofs and patterns and uncirculated coins, with the 1937 values. It includes also the composite of dies. The price-list is made up in booklet form and costs 75c., which covers mailing, etc. Published by the author of the Park Coin Guide.
